Dear Brian,

Almost 2 months have past since we moved into our new home in Clearbrooke Estates. Words may never adequately express how we feel about our new home. With out a doubt this is a very well built home. The professional craftsmanship used in the construction of this home is quite evident even when viewing it from the outside. We will never forget that first day when we entered through the front door. As we walked into the beautiful foyer, then the large magnificent living area, we knew this was the house we wanted - - the home we had long been searching for. First impressions are always so very important, and to say the least we were impressed. My wife and I could talk endlessly about how much we are enjoying this house (our new home), and it is obvious we could go on and on about the quality and craftsmanship you have put into even the smallest of details. Thank you so much for making one of our dreams in life come true.

Should you ever have potential homebuyers that may have questions or concerns about the quality and workmanship that you put into your home construction business, please do not hesitate to have them contact us. We can assure them that they will be working with one of the finest homebuilders in the new home construction business.

Wishing you a future of great success in your home construction business. We also want to wish you and your family all the best life has to offer.

Sincerely,

Frank; Pam
